WHERE TO SPEND THE PLEASANT mouths of autumn. Leighton House.

Newman Springs near Rei Bark. N. J., Leighton House.

Newman Springs near Rei Bark. N. J., beautifully situated on high ground, overlooking the Shrewsbury River, seven miles from Long Branch, is sufficiently distant from the coast to allow vegetation to grow in great luxuriance, yet not too far to prevent the en oyment of pure sea air, which is here inhaled without the chilling effect of the coid experienced upon the beach after the close of the summer season.

This house, open all the year, and expable of accommodating more than 100 guests, is conducted on the most liberal plan, while the charges are only half those past for equal entertainment at Long Branch. The grounds extend a mile along the wooled banks of the river, and comprise numerous rustic arbors, pleasant shady arms bles and a thowing from spring, possessing integrating properties. There are also fine deliver, and stating, box ing, fishing, sait water bathing, billiarts and stabing, box ing, fishing, sait water bathing, billiarts and stabing.
